Music by the First United States Army Band, Fort George G. Meade, Maryland

The Travis Trophy was presented by Sir Edward Travis, K.C.M.G., to the U.S. Army Security Agency and the U.S. Naval Communications Supplementary Activity in 1945 as an award for competitive games. In 1964, it was redesignated by Lieutenant General Gordon A. Blake, USAF, DIRNSA, with the consent of Sir Clive Loehnis, K.C.M.G., as an annual award to the U.S. Cryptologic Agency which has made the most significant contribution in the fields of operations, management, administration, or suggestions.

Beginning this year, Vice Admiral B. R. Inman, Director, National Security Agency/Central Security Service, established a new award which will recognize similar performance by mobile SIGINT elements. This will be known as the Director's Trophy Award. The Travis Trophy will continue to be awarded for the most outstanding performance by a fixed field station, while the Director's Trophy will serve as equal recognition of performance by a mobile station.
